We have a number of complaints from Paradise of the unlawful catching and killing of fish. Paradise river was, a few years ago, one of the favorite haunts for trout. The brush grows so thickly along the banks that the fisherman has to wade in the creek. It is nicely shaded, and would be teeming with fish now, if it were not for the fact that some parties have been seining, and others killing the fish with giant powder. These practices are rapidly depopulating all of the best streams in Cache valley. Detectives should be employed, and parties caught made to suffer a heavy penalty.
